1212. 1. Servient Estate Held by Tenant. — Riley v. Buchanan, 116 Ky. 625.

Where There Is a Tenant for Life in Possession of settled land, a lost grant of a right of way cannot be implied as against the reversioner merely from the user of the way during the lifetime of the tenant for life, one ground being that reversioner, not being in possession, would have no power to prevent the user; and the circumstance that the reversioner joined with the tenant for life in barring the entail, and in making a resettlement during the period of the user, does not alter the case. Roberts v. James, 89 L. T. N. S. 282.
